

Giving

Amazonia's native populations have lived in the tropics for thousands of years. Their lifestyle and culture is well adapted to the environment they inhabit. And quite the contrary to some beliefs, their survival methods do not affect the environment. Their daily life comprises of methods of survival such as fishing, small scale agriculture, hunting, and gathering.

Yet, there are many items available in our lives that the community people of the Amazon don't yet have access to that could greatly improve their lives.

You can help by bringing tshirts, school supplies, toys, or healthful snacks.

Anything and everything will be a great help to these people who are so far away from civilization.

Receiving

Knowing the social sensitivity of all our guests and interest to support the communities which we see during our journey through the Peruvian Amazon, we believe that best way to help is to purchase their handmade products.

During the course of our cruises, we visit several of these small towns and have a chance to be presented with a variety of beautiful palm fiber crafts, wood, and seeds that we are sure will attract your eyes. Purchasing them not only helps the families' budgets, but also the children themselves as the main beneficiaries. Furthermore, your purchases help raise the self-esteem of all these women artisans who work with enthusiasm and creativity to achieve these beautiful products.

We are confident that you will enjoy what they have to offer and when you see or utilize their works in your home, you will remember how simple life can be in the Amazon.
